5. ([redacted] - JSW) Bill Darden, Senate Armed Services Committee staff, telephoned indicating that Senator Russell had heard of the polling of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and wanted to be reassured that he was not going to be scooped. Also Senator Russell wanted to suggest the possible approach to the problem of first a briefing of the CIA Subcommittee, then a briefing of the full Committee, both without Powers and then consider whether or not to have Powers before the Committee. I indicated to Darden that this seemed very sensible and assured him that in my opinion Mr. McCone definitely wished to cooperate fully with Senator Russell on this matter.

25X1 9. [redacted] ADVISED Jay Sourwine, Senate Internal 25X1 Security Subcommittee staff, that the Agency had no current, active 25X1 interest in [redacted] and that our past limited association with [redacted]
25X1 [redacted] We do not have and have not had any 25X1 relationship or association with [redacted] in connection with the 25X1 [redacted] television and other activities within the United States.
25X1 In response to Mr. Sourwine's direct question, advised we are 25X1 not subsidizing nor do we have any knowledge of any current subsidy of [redacted] current television program.

Mr. Sourwine appeared quite gratified that the Agency was not in any way involved with [redacted] and his television program over the metropolitan network and indicated that it had not been determined as yet whether [redacted] might be called before the Subcommittee. Mr. Sourwine observed that in his judgment [redacted] had appeared to play his [redacted] "association" with the Agency against the Subcommittee and his "association" with Senator Thomas J. Dodd (D., Conn.) against the Agency.
